the doctoral thesis argues that the term subcreation with its revised and broadened definition in part differing from j r r tolkien s original term sub creation may be used for the discussion of the making of fictional worlds in literary discourse the successful conception of a fictional world depends on the reader s willing suspension of disbelief this depends both on the author and his skilled composition of the world and all its aspects as well as on the reader s acceptance of this invented fictional world the author needs to create a narrative with an inner consistency which is crucial to achieving the effect of the reader s immersion in the fictional world the fundamental aspects that an author needs to realize to achieve successful subcreation have been structured into and analysed in four categories language and linguistic variation physiopoeia anthropoeia and mythopoeia furthermore this thesis shows that as contemporary examples of fantastic literature both tad williams s and terry pratchett s fictional worlds are successfully created through the realization of these aspects of subcreation apart from commenting on the success of the subcreative process this thesis also remarks upon the cultural influences both authors include in their writings while both may be considered anglophone in a general categorization pratchett s discworld retains a feeling of britishness that is not to be found in williams s otherland the thesis proposes several approaches to subcreation that may be studied subsequently so for example it may be possible to determine the success of an author s subcreation by collecting empirical data apart from literary works this field of studies may also include other media

Pratchett's The Truth will set you free and laughing if Dr Who had been conceived written and performed by Monty Python's Flying Circus the result might be something like Discworld: The Truth. It sets its sights on an enduring institution the news media and skewers it. CNN Ankh Morpork gets its first newspaper unleashing a war of words and a battle for the truth. In this funny, wise and prescient novel in Sir Terry Pratchett's internationally bestselling Discworld series the Discworld has seen just about everything. Then comes the Ankh Morpork Times its first paper of record edited by struggling scribe William de Worde and staffed by a band of axe-wielding dwarfs and a recovering vampire with a life-threatening passion for flash photography reporting the news is a risky business. An ethical journalist de Worde has a nasty habit of investigating stories that quickly create powerful enemies eager to stop his presses and what better way than to start the Inquirer a titillating tabloid that conveniently interchanges what's real for what sells when de Worde gets a tip on a hot story concerning Ankh Morpork's leading patrician Lord Vetinari. All hell breaks loose leaving the city without a leader the facts say Lord Vetinari is guilty but as William de Worde learns facts don't always tell the whole story there's that pesky little thing called the truth. The Discworld novels can be read in any order but The Truth is a standalone.

Football, food, fashion and wizards collide in Pratchett's affectionate satire on the foibles of sports and sports fans. The prose crackles with wit and charm and the sendups of league football, academic posturing, Romeo and Juliet and cheesy sports dramas are razor sharp and hilarious but never cruel. At its heart this is an intelligent, cheeky love letter to football its fans and the unifying power of sports. Publishers Weekly's Football aka Soccer comes to the ancient city of Ankh Morpork upending the Wizards of Unseen University and dividing Discworld in this wonderfully funny novel in Sir Terry Pratchett's internationally bestselling series. The wizards at Ankh Morpork's Unseen University are renowned for many things: wisdom, magic, teatime but athletics not so much. When Lord Vetinari, the city's benevolent tyrant, strongly suggests to Archchancellor Mustrum Ridcully that the university revive its sports program and field a football team composed of faculty, students and staff or lose the funding that pays for their nine daily meals the wizards of uu find themselves in a quandary first they have to understand what makes foot the ball so popular with ankh morporkians then they have to learn how to play it and win without using magic of course the thing about football is that it is never just about football the discworld novels can be read in any order but unseen academicals is the seventh and final book in the wizards collection and 37th discworld book the other books in the wizards collection include the color of magic the light fantastic sourcery eric interesting times the last continent
